

PASSAGE OF BILL SOUGHT TO STOP LAND GRABBING

Expected verbal fireworks failed to materialize yesterday at the hearing at the State House before the Metropolitan Affairs Committee of the Massachusetts Legislature in regard to a bill, now before the committee, as introduced by Rep. Henry E. Keenan.

The bill would prohibit the Metropolitan District Commission from conveying any of the land, situated along the Concord Turnpike near North Cambridge, to private interests for a period of ten years.

The bill, if passed by the Legislature, would convey the land to the Metropolitan Transit Authority until such time as it could ascertain whether or not the land would be used as a terminal for an extension of the subway from Harvard to Porter Square and then along the B&M railroad tracks to the land in question.

During his discussion of the need for the retention of the land "in the best interests" of the public, Rep. Keenan stated that the Metropolitan District Commission had "violated the original intent of holding the land by disposing of 16 acres of land, more or less, to private interests." He also stated that "I will discuss the situation more fully in an executive session of this committee."

[Ed. note: An executive session is closed to the public.] This observer, reliably informed by an outside source, covered the hearing as rumor had it that certain local land-grabbing private interests would be exposed and that political pressure that was being used to buy parcels of land still public domain. It can be that this will be brought out in the executive session.

COPS NAB EIGHT ESCAPEES HERE

Eight escaped prisoners, three Lyman School boys and five soldiers from Fort Devens, were apprehended within an hour of each other early Saturday morning when alert Arlington police halted two cars for checking.

Both unrelated parties were riding in stolen cars which had not at that time been reported stolen. The soldiers were halted as they came over Pleasant st. in a car stolen in Harvard. A fifth soldier was missing at the time but was later picked up at his Arlington residence.

The three youths, halted earlier on Summer st., rode in a car stolen from a Framingham owner. They were turned over to the Framingham police. The soldiers were given over to the provost marshal at the Boston Army Base.

Patrolmen Harold O'Leary and Agostino Manderino caught the soldiers. Officers George Alexie and James Casali were responsible for apprehending the Lyman School escapees.

Exhibit Minerals

An excellent collection of minerals can be seen at the Dallin Branch Library during library hours this week. The specimens, donated by Anthony Millic of 45 Hillside ave., are mostly from New England and many are from this state.

A specimen of beryl in the collection is as fine as any in the Smithsonian Institute, Millic was told when he showed it to Institute authorities.

Other items in the collection include beautiful rose quartz and the well-known "fool's gold."

It was brought out, during the discussion of the bill, that the parcel of land conveyed to private hands was sold by the MDC for a sum reputed to be from $16,000 to $32,000 and that, at this time, was up for private sale for from $100,000 to $120,000.

Recorded in favor of the Keenan bill was Town Counsel Russell T. Hamlet who told the committee that he represented the Arlington Board of Selectmen, who were unanimously in favor of the bill. Also recorded in favor were Atty. Lawrence E. Corcoran, representing both the Arlington Safety Committee and the Arlington Heights Improvement Association whose membership was recorded in favor; George A. Harris who in 1934 made a public demand for better transportation a matter of public record and John H. O'Brien, candidate for Assessor, who explained in detail how residents of Arlington, Belmont, Lexington and other towns would benefit.

Also in favor were Commissioner Morrissey of the MDC and Attorney Downey of the MTA. Representative Hollis M. Gott was recorded as being in favor.

The only opponents of the bill were Representative Kirilin of Belmont and Belmont Selectman Sharp who wanted the land continued under the province of the MDC. Mr. Sharp reported that the Belmont Selectmen were unanimously against the bill. Representative McAvoy spoke in favor of the Keenan bill.

Philip Bowker, chairman of the Metropolitan Affairs Committee, brought out, by inference that the object of the Belmont speakers was in favor of the intent of the bill.

P.T.A. Council Opposes Tanks

The Arlington Council P.T.A. met last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Eugene Monahan, 31 Sawin st., and went on record as opposing the petition of the Arlington Gas Light Co. for permission to erect storage tanks on Grove st.

The Executive Board feels that "such storage tanks would be detrimental to the safety of school children."

Plans are progressing for the entertainment to be presented Feb. 15, Brotherhood night, at Junior High West auditorium. The rehearsal for groups sponsored by the P.T.A. units will be held in that hall Feb. 12.

Conduct Youth Service

Youth Sunday was observed at the Pleasant Street Congregation at Church Jan. 28 when the Pilgrim Fellowship conducted the service.

Richard Rochford gave the call to worship. Sheila Moore led in the responsive reading, while Richard Cooke and Barbara Fleck read from the Old and New Testaments. Ralph Hatch offered the prayer.

Donald Henderson, the pastor's assistant and leader of the Pilgrim Fellowship, preached a sermon on the theme, "How To Put The Most Into Life."

The ushers were Joan Wyman, Marianne Wood, Ronald Simonds and Frank Swan.

Youth people who took part in the service greeted the congregation at the close of the service.

Voters Council Picks Candidates

Recommendations of the qualifications committee were followed exactly by members of the Voters Council at its meeting last Thursday at Library hall. Candidates were endorsed, individually, by secret ballot.

In most instances there were no dissenting votes until toward the end of the balloting when it became apparent that some "no" votes were being cast on principle.

Opposition of a minor sort did crop up on the offices of sinking fund, planning board and selectman. In that order the following candidates were endorsed: William J. O'Brien Jr. (29 to 8); Frederick Stanley Glynn Jr. (30 to 7); Walter T. Kenny (29 to 8).

Others endorsed by wider margins or unanimously were James C. Doyle (housing-2 yrs.), Myron D. Chace (housing-5 yrs.), George M. Dolan (tree warden), Wathan B. Henderson (cemeteries), Harold A. Yeames (Farmer fund), Margaret Heaps and Lewellyn B. Parsons (Library), Edward J. Clark (Pratt fund), Edward J. Henderson (park comm.), J. Wilbert Anderson (treasurer), James J. Golden (clerk), Carl E. Barstow (health), Arthur W. Sampson (assessor), Edward W. Higgins (public works).

Also endorsed were the three school committee incumbents—Eleanor J. Strong, James W. Kidder, John H. Allison.

* Denotes incumbents.

Four Decide Not To File Papers

At Monday's deadline at 5 p.m. at the Town Clerk's office, four candidates did not file nomination papers. One new name was added.

As previously announced, Frank Hughes did not file for Public Works. Others whose papers were not forthcoming are James W. Donahue, also Public Works; Nelson E. Brown, School Committee; William McKeever, 2-yr. term, Housing Authority.

For the latter office, Cornelius J. Brosnan of 52 Egerton rd. filed for the 2-year term, opposing James C. Doyle. Brosnan has been a political figure in previous elections.

THIRTEEN DOLLARS

Thirteen dollars in DIMES, nickels, quarters and pennies were turned in yesterday afternoon at the Advocate office by Bobby Reid, 33 Puritan rd., and Joe Warren, 5 Cedar ave. This sum was the combined amount raised for the March of Dimes by two movie shows on successive Saturday mornings at their homes. [Front page pictures, Advocate, Jan. 25, 1951.—Ed.]

Actually, when the money was counted, $12.96 was the tally. Whereupon each had chipped in 2 cents.

The money has already been turned in to the local March of Dimes committee.

Dramatic Club Play Pleases Its Audience

All who saw the High School Dramatic Club's excellent production of "Meet Me In St. Louis" on Saturday evening in the Town Hall agree that they spent a most enjoyable evening. Not only was the play good with the right mixture of humor and pathos but the young people in it gave excellent portrayals of the various characters.

From a point of view of direction, staging, and production, the play reached toward a professional level. Much should be said for Mrs. Helen Matthews, who maintained her fine reputation for excellent dramatic work with these young people, and chucked up yet another success for the A.H.S. Dramatic Club. She was most ably assisted by Miss Lena Manning, with Mrs. Agnes Bray, W. Ray Burke and Elmer Barber.

Love Story Nets Newlyweds Prizes

An Advocate employee and his bride of three days hit the marital jackpot as guests of the Betty Crocker program in Atlantic City, N. J., Tuesday.

The bride, the former Margaret F. Wilson of Tewksbury, wrote to the program before her marriage to Vaughn Tompkins Jr., of 38 Walnut st. The couple was chosen as having the most interesting love story. His proposal to her on top of the Empire State building caught the fancy of the program directors and netted the newlyweds $150.00 in cash, numerous household gifts and a stay in Atlantic City at the homes. [Front page pictures, Advocate, Jan. 25, 1951.—Ed.]

The couple were married Saturday at the home of the bride on Pleasant st. in Tewksbury. They will reside in Tewksbury upon returning from their honeymoon. Vaughn, known as "Red", is a likable pressman and ad compositor at the Advocate.

ROTARIANS HEAR SPEAKERS ON TM

James Doyle and Frederick Stanley Glynn Jr., two members of the town manager committee of nine, spoke last week before the Rotary Club regarding this form of government which has been "tailor-made" by the committee to fit Arlington's needs.

Glynn, the first speaker, quoted Thomas Jefferson as saying that "the town meeting form of government was particularly a New England institution and is the wisest form of government." New Haven, Conn., had it when a town and when New Haven became a city embodied it in a dual form of government.

At the present time there are in Maine about 100 town manager governments and about 1,000 in the country. 25% of the people live under this form of government.

Mr. Glynn stressed the point that the town manager form was really a streamlining of the present form and that the word "manager" was probably an unfortunate choice of wording.

Mr. Doyle, chairman of the committee, explained that the selectmen, whom the committee recommended be raised from three to five members, would be policy-making officials and that town manager and his appointments would be subject to their approval. The town manager would have the power to appoint his own assistants including the director of public works.

Mr. Doyle also enlarged upon other features:

1. Transfer of personnel from one department to another.
2. A commissioner of trust funds.
3. Maintenance of all town

Militant Citizens Throng Hearing On Gas Petition

SELECTMEN DENY GAS CO. PETITION

After Monday night's hearing the Board of Selectmen reconvened and unanimously voted to deny the petition of the Arlington Gas Light Co. to install 24 tanks for storage of inflammable gas.

The Company had already filed with the Selectmen a request to withdraw the petition without prejudice. However, the Board ruled that the petition could not be withdrawn and notified the Company's counsel at 2 p.m. Monday that the hearing would be held.

History On Tank

Through the cooperation of Frank Nicksay, secretary to the Board of Selectmen, the Advocate was able to find the historical background on the installation of the 2,000,000 cu. ft. gas holder now on Grove st.

On Sept. 4, 1923, the Gas Company petitioned the Selectmen.

On Sept. 17 a hearing was held. Mr. Woodhead represented the Company. Only three citizens appeared, all in opposition, all women. They were Mrs. Dinsmore Summer, Mrs. McHugh and Miss Marion Buttrick.

On Sept. 24, 1923, the Selectmen, composed of Messrs. Higgins, Crosby and Devereaux, granted the petition.

League To Study Town Mgr. Act

The proposed Town Manager act will be presented briefly by Mrs. John B. Curtis, local affairs chairman of the League of Women Voters of Arlington at meetings for all League members on Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 7-8. Mrs. Curtis is serving as secretary of the committee appointed by the moderator "To draw up a proposed Legislative Act for the Town Manager Form of Government for Arlington."

The rest of the discussion period will be given over to a consideration of the legislative program of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts for the current session of the General Court. This will be presented by the legislative committee of the league, headed by Mrs. Gordon Thompson.

The meetings will take place Wednesday at 7:45 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Richard Bolt, 34 Temple st., and Thursday at 7:45 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Peter Bertocci, 243 Park ave.

1. Buildings including schools.
2. Supervision of all new construction.
3. Central purchasing except educational supplies and text books.
4. Appointment of assistants from the civil service list.

About 200 citizens assembled at the Town Hall Monday night to voice unanimous (unrecorded) protest against installation of tanks on Grove st. for 400,000 gallons of inflammable fluid or gas. The hearing was called by the Selectmen on petition of the Arlington Gas Light Co.

The crowd was in a militant mood and speakers freely expressed their ideas in spite of the fact that Chairman Joseph A. Purcell announced that the company had petitioned to "respectfully withdraw its petition without prejudice." Some sane heads stopped the witch hunt that threatened at times.

After Purcell had read the Company's withdrawal petition, John L. Murphy rose and said he was speaking as an individual (he is chairman of the Board of Public Works). "I object to the Gas Light Co. having the gall to withdraw its original petition after getting all these people down here," he said.

He held up a page of a local newspaper and declared that "they" had deliberately buried the advertisement, announcing the hearing. He did not make clear who "they" are—the newspaper, Selectmen or Company. He pointed out the "ad" as having been placed between one for a dancing school and one for a funeral home.

"Dancing and Death!" "There it is," he said, "between dancing and death."

Murphy stressed that, if an explosion took place, fire insurance would cover only "a fire that may occur and, then, only on the damage resulting from fire." He said there was also the danger that the advertisement could "be slipped in again while you people are away at your summer places."

William Finn spoke next and said that he was well-qualified to speak since his work and interest was in fire prevention. He cited what happened in the Everett fire of 1928 and the Coconut Grove disaster. "Things were supposed to be safe then," he said, "but sometimes the safety devices do not work. The butane gas they propose to store is a grade 'A' explosive."

Later Finn demanded to know whether the Fire Chief had OK'd the permit which, by law, should be signed before the petition was filed. When told that the permit had been signed, Finn asked, "Why?"

The Fire Chief's OK promptly came under fire until William B. Houser stood and pleaded that the Chief acts under law; that if the Board of Fire Underwriters deemed the proposed installation safe, then the Chief had no other alternative.

A woman who did not identify herself said that she had received in the mail a letter from the Gas Company stating that there would be no hearing. She wanted to know "why" since obviously there was a hearing going on. Others stated that they had called the town hall and had been told verbally that there would be no hearing. They, too, wanted to protest against installation of tanks on Grove st. for 400,000 gallons of inflammable fluid or gas. The hearing was called by the Selectmen on petition of the Arlington Gas Light Co.

Chairman Purcell said that he could not speak for the Gas Company but guessed that it might be assumed that the hearing would be called off in view of its request for withdrawal. John Murphy offered a possible explanation as to erroneous phone information, saying that possibly the callers had reached offices other than the Selectmen's.

New Organization

Robert Bowser of 9 Grove st. announced that a home-owners protective association had been formed of which he is president. This group will try to stop such moves to "ruin private property in all parts of the town."

"Let's not be hoodwinked," he said. "They will call it progress but progress at the price of the safety of our children and homes is not progress."

Other speakers were: EDWARD SENNOT of Jason st.—wanted an inquiry as to how "this whole matter was handled."

PAUL ALEXANDER of 904 Mass. ave.—chose home here because of no saloons, proud of town, would like to see big tank abolished.

MARY E. PORTEUS, speaking for the P. T. A. Council and a School Committee member—wanted Council and herself on record as opposed.

ROBERT M. BOYD of Ronald rd.—on record as opposed for self and town meeting member of Prec. 11.

WALTER J. HOLT of 42 Oak Hill drive—said as president of the Cutter Hill Improvement Association, representing homeowners with a $1,000,000 investment in new homes, on record as opposed.

A. C. BOATES of 34 Rockmont rd.—as a retired Navy man I know what explosions mean; put the tanks out in the woods somewhere.

ELEANOR J. STRONG—on record as School Committee member as opposed.

WILLIAM O. HAUSER—a member of the Board of Assessors, speaking for himself, said that in his opinion real estate values would decline for 1/2 to 3/4 miles around the area if tanks were installed.

JOHN O'BRIEN, 319 Mass. ave.—asked for a tally of votes.

No one spoke in favor. No one appeared representing the Gas Company. Every speaker was vociferously applauded, giving encouragement for others to follow.

Others stated that they had

DAUGHTER'S POTENTIAL

A storage of inflammable fluid can cause an explosion surpassing dynamite given the right set of conditions. A crowd of irate citizens has exactly the same dangerous potential. These two facts are known to everyone.

The latter, however, is too often forgotten by speakers gifted with dynamic powers of verbal expression.

Although nothing serious resulted from Monday night's hearing on the storage of volatile fluids near the High School, at times the trend was toward the very brink of a genuine witch hunt.

Still another axiom proved itself—the one which states that representation of the "other" side is important. Whenever a majority becomes unanimous, a danger point has been reached. The complete absence of a minority—in any discussion—leaves the majority with such a reservoir of unexpended power that it begins to search an outlet in other and unrelated directions.

The British government is so keenly aware of this fact that it pays a salary to the leader of the minority in order to insure opposition.

We Americans all love to be right but to glory in it creates a dangerous potential.

QUANTITY TO QUALITY

We understand from the Town Clerk's office that a sufficient number of candidates for town meeting member are running to fill vacancies in nearly every precinct. Only two short weeks ago nearly fifty vacancies were open.

Now the question turns from quantity to quality. All are agreed that the annual Town Meeting of 1951 will require four or five sessions. Thus the demands on time will be great. Town meeting members, will you give it?

Terrific problems confront the members this year. A big tax rise is imminent. Under consideration are pay raises and bonuses, town manager form, secret ballot, change in employer classifications, increased pensions, zoning changes, additions and repairs to public buildings, and more. These considerations will require sagacity in huge measure. Town meeting members have you got it?

To:
QUALIFICATIONS COMMITTEE OF VOTERS COUNCIL, INC.

Congratulations on making your findings public last week and not waiting to the last minute to "spring" them on the main body.

We hope other committees will follow your example.

Dispatch from Spain

"Where a newspaper costs the work of a labourer for one half day."

Cartagena, Spain—(Air mail by William B. Dillingham)—From the American point of view, "living expenses" in Spain is a contradiction of words. This is the country that disproves the statement "you can't get something for nothing".

The price an American pays for the evening paper in his home town would pay for, in this country, the work of a laborer for one half day. With prices proportionately adjusted, it leaves the man who has a dollar in his pocket, with a fortune.

Spain has, beyond all doubt, the lowest standard of living of any country in Europe. To one who possesses dollars and who is accustomed to American prices, many European countries appear easy on the bankbook, but Spain certainly heads the list by far.

One factor which has contributed to the impoverished situation here (and there are many) is the railroad. It seems that the distance between the tracks in Spain (breadth) is different than that of the other European countries so that "through traffic" with the neighbors is impossible.

All shipments, therefore, into or out of Spain must be transferred at the border to cars of an appropriate size. This adds tremendous expense to an already poor country which no other European nation is burdened with. The idea of an odd sized track breadth originated with some military genius who flunked his economics, for although it does leave Spain more secure from aggression, it obviously does not promote commerce.

Added to this we find thousands of Army privates who, because they earn only one cent a day during their two year military careers, (taxes not yet deducted) are always non-paying guests of the railroad.

It is commonly known that almost one-half of the world's supply of olive oil comes from Spain, but rarely realized that this same oil is rationed right in the native's home town store. As a policy of preserving everything for export is maintained, the people sacrifice olive oil for bread and butter—and many end up with "fish heads and rice" on the exchange.

Medical statistics, as a result of this situation, finds 70 per cent of the people undernourished and with tuberculosis flourishing. A sick man with a fever in Spain is prescribed food instead of the customary diet elsewhere; the first consideration here is always malnutrition.

The luxury side of the picture is not much brighter. Television, something that is now an accepted part of every glass of beer in America, is still 25th century electronics to the Spanish people. There is no transmitting equipment here so there is no purpose in building television receivers. The reasons are economic, of course, but question the proud citizen of the street and the explanation is more simple: why build a transmitter when there are no receivers? In addition, most of the large cities in Spain have no more than two stations that broadcast for radio.

As energy of all forms (except human) is expensive here, the short subway and bus lines in Madrid and Barcelona stop service at midnight. In most of the southern cities electricity only comes through the lines after 6 p.m. Life seems to be well fashioned around the "siesta"; shops close up between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. With items of food priced at a fraction of a cent; with strawberries priced up to two cents a pound, one idea is unanimously expressed by everybody: the prices are high. As one outraged citizen declared, "The prices are simply ASTRONOMICAL!"

A BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE—William Bradford Dillingham was born in New York City, but reared and educated in New England.

During the war Mr. Dillingham was commissioned a Lt. (j.g.) by the U.S.M.S., in which capacity he served in the Atlantic, Pacific and Mediterranean areas. At one time he was shipwrecked in the East Indies for 101 days, during which time he survived a hurricane and later surveillance by Japanese scout plants. His plight was radiocast by Tokyo Rose.

Since the war he has traveled throughout South America, extensively combined Northern Canada and Alaska, and "turned over every rock" in Portuguese East Africa. He is currently engaged in an extensive trip which is expected to cover a substantial part of Europe and the Near East.

Thanks to Mother Nature and Superintendant Hall we all enjoyed a three day week-end.

However, our week-end spirits were dimmed when our hockey team lost its third game of the season. They bowed to a traditional rival, Melrose, by a score of 4-2 Saturday.

The track team also met with stiff opposition and lost its meet with Brookline although Bill Squires broke the schoolboy mile record that he set last week.

The Dramatic Club's production of "Meet Me In St. Louis" furnished the bright note for the week-end. With a top-notch cast and under such capable direction the play was a tremendous success. Congratulations to those who took part in making the play the hit that it was!

Juniors are counting the days until February 2, when their Prom is no longer a dream, but a reality. Dancing to the music of Ken Reeve's orchestra will highlight the evening.

At the recent career meetings, sponsored by the Guidance Department, three speakers discussed occupations and educational opportunities for high school graduates. Students were permitted to attend the meeting of their own choosing.

Two leagues composed of eight teams with six girls on a team comprise the Girls Bowling group. The girls enjoy competitive bowling every Monday and Wednesday afternoons.

A.H.S. students are eagerly awaiting George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion", to be presented by the Tributary players. Combined with the Harvard Radcliffe Glee Club, the programs sponsored by the P.T.A. council of the Fine Arts Program, are to be directed by a student committee under co-chairmen Joe Daley and Nancy Ham. Tickets for the combined programs will soon be on sale and may be bought from members of the student committee.

The A.H.S. Girls Basketball team kept up its excellent record when it overpowered Cambridge by a score of 39-16. The seconds were also victorious, their final score, 33-27.

RAILROAD

Commuters' ColumnSkidding and Kidding

This week started off with a thrill for the children. "No School" signals sounded all over as the season's first sleet storm glazed the roads and brought most transportation to a standstill.

I decided I wouldn't even try for my regular 8:10 train; but walking wasn't bad if you stuck to the side of the road, and I reached the station with plenty of time to spare before the 8:28 pulled in.

I got the last newspaper on the rack, and as I went over to buy a 12-ride ticket the station agent said: "Plenty of riders this morning, all right. There'll be standing room only before you get to town!"

"What can you do about extra passengers in bad weather?" I asked. "Put on more cars?"

"Not in the morning," he replied. "We just don't have 'em at the out-of-town end of the line. So people have to stand up."

"Too bad these new riders see the railroad at its most uncomfortable," I said.

"Yep — but nobody seems to mind. They're glad enough to be able to get to town. It's tough on the railroad people, though. They have to get up even earlier than usual — scrape the ice off the car steps — sand platforms — dig out switches. And then this is the season when people get sick — and even railroad people catch cold sometimes. That puts extra work on the rest of us. We have to arrange substitutes — work longer and harder and faster to keep things going."

"You railroaders certainly have to be right on the job," I said. He smiled and nodded. "We even have to live right near it. Otherwise, how would we ever get to work on time in weather like this?"

New faces began to appear at the ticket window — faces I hadn't seen at the station since last winter. I renewed old acquaintanceships — struck up new ones — lent half my newspaper to a friend. There was an atmosphere of cheer, of warmth and relaxed comfort.

The 8:28 was right on the dot. Car steps were clear of ice. The station agent ran out ahead of us to sprinkle-fresh sand on the platform. And the regular commuters had a lot of fun kidding the new riders as we crowded aboard.

LENTEN PROGRAMS

Beginning Feb. 7 and continuing through March 14, a special program called "Adventures in Christian Living" will be given at Trinity Baptist church each Wednesday evening at 7:45 p.m.

Due to the confusion and feelings of insecurity, it was thought wise to offer to the people of Trinity and their friends this program, consisting of two "Adventures" each evening—one called "The Life of Christ," arranged by Howard Whitehouse and Harold White; the other called "Personal Religious Living," arranged by Aubrey Rigby and Edward Moore. These programs will not only give Trinity people opportunity to increase their personal spiritual strength and Christian leadership but also give all a personal share in combatting the strong foes of Christianity so prominent in the world today. It was announced.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the congregation of Trinity Lutheran church will be held next Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Park Avenue Congregational church.

Byrne, the father of five children, is active in many community service activities including the Auxiliary Police Association, the Community Fund, and the Symmes Arlington Hospital Building Fund. He is also a director of the Monica Cotter Trust Fund.

Byrne indicated to the Advocate that his prime reason for being a candidate for the office of Planning Board is that he feels that now is the time to properly plan for the future growth of Arlington.

"Daily contact with all sections of the town as a sanitary engineer has brought to my attention the fact that every section has its own individual problems, many of them long neglected. Appropriate plans for the solution of these problems should be drawn up and presented for action," he said.

the ability and experience to augment the work of the other members of this so important Board."

"The people of Arlington will find Joseph P. Greeley to be honest, sincere and a tireless worker who will exert himself to the limit. Therefore, I sincerely urge all my friends and all the voters to get behind him and when March 5 arrives we will have no regrets."

HTS. ASS'N VOTES SUPPORT OF REP. KEENAN'S BILLS

On January 22, the Arlington Heights Improvement Association conducted an open forum on the subject of Safety Education and Traffic Control. The Police Department was represented by Sergeant Philip Sweeney, traffic safety officer, who was assigned to the meeting by Chief of Police Archie Bullock.

The theme of Sergeant Sweeney's discussion of police problems was contained in his terse statement that "We can train the children but not the parents." The Traffic Safety Officer gave the members and their guests one of the clearest pictures of the particular problems of the police department on traffic that the association has ever heard.

The shortage of police officers who might be detailed to slow down the speeders was most thoroughly discussed in a question and answer period. It was brought out that, of some 550 or more who had been booked for traffic violations in the past six months, a great percentage of them were parents who had been complaining about speeding in their own neighborhoods.

Members of the Arlington Safety Education Committee were in attendance and brought out many items of discussion to better traffic conditions in town.

Keenan Blasts "Interests"

By invitation of the Association, Rep. Henry E. Keenan appeared at the meeting and gave his audience a clear picture of the benefits to the taxpayer of his bill, passed by the 1950 Legislature, which would allow a town or city to enter into unaccepted streets for minor repairs.

Keenan also, in answer to questions, explained House bill No. 183, which would, eventually, run the subway to Porter Square, Cambridge and then over land to the Concord Turnpike near the Bowdoin. He brought out, forcefully, that certain influential interests were against the bill for their own private gain. This bill was heard at the State House in a public hearing on January 31 at 10:30 a.m.

He brought out the fact that Arlington, back in 1907, had invested money in the land needed now for the terminal and that, if the land, in whole or part, was sold, the Town was most certainly entitled to some of it back. He stressed that the lack of interest of Arlington residents in bills that were put in for their benefit was deplorable and he asked the Association's help.

At the conclusion of the meeting.

Speaks At Conference

Leslie H. Barrett, a member of the faculty at Arlington High School, was invited by the Oak Grove School in Vassalboro, Me., to be a speaker and leader of a round table discussion for a high school conference on international relations. The conference began on Friday night, Jan. 19 and continued through Saturday.

Attending the conference were high school students from Portland, Lewiston, Augusta, Waterville, Brunswick, and other high schools in the south central part of Maine.

Troy Faces Chace For Vet Housing

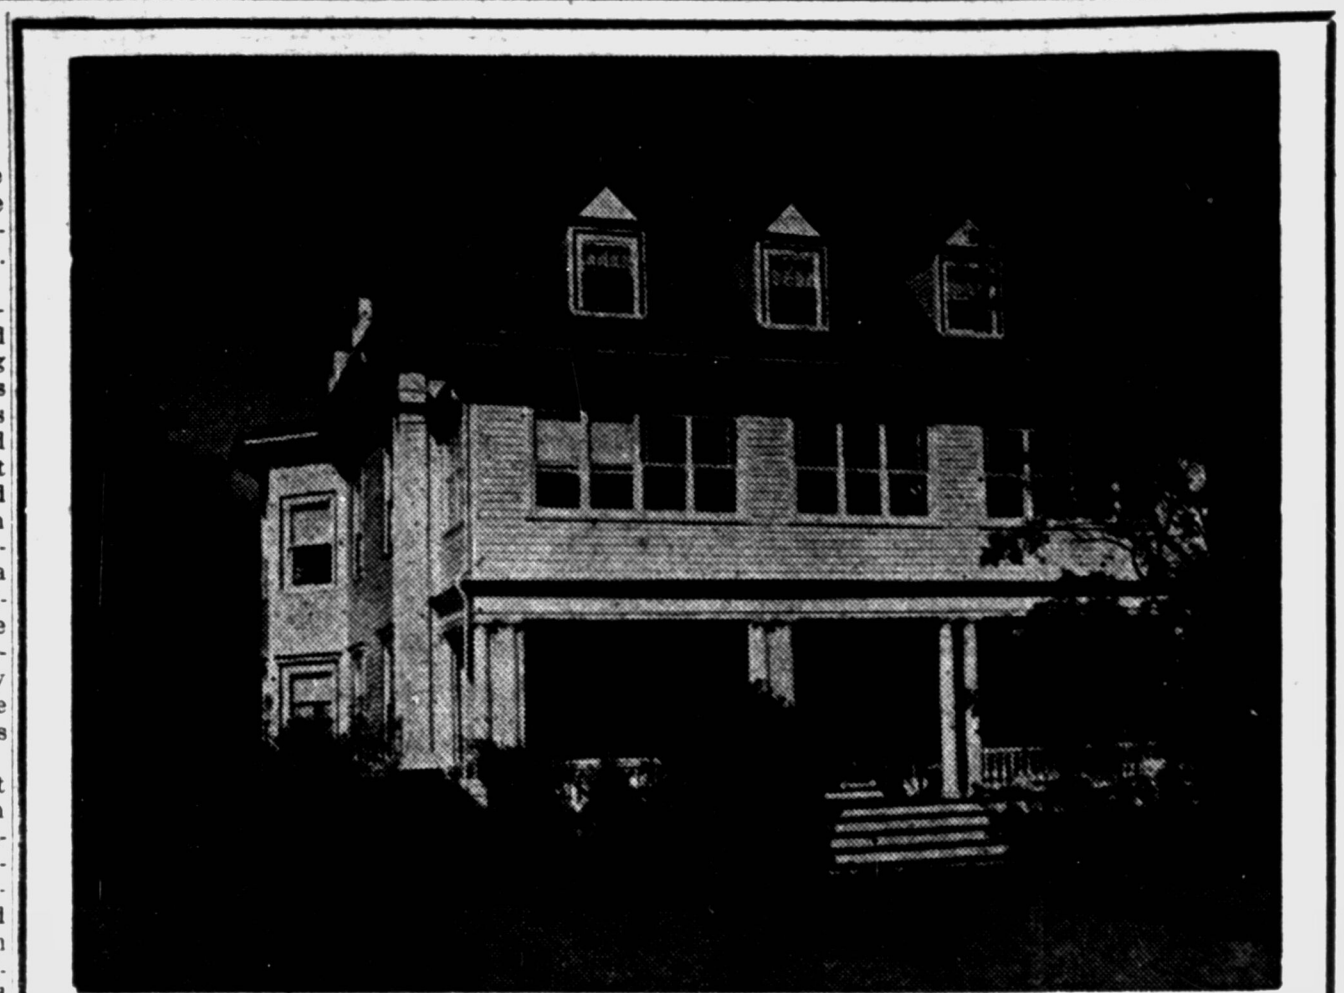

Kenneth P. Troy of 182 Brattle st. has entered the race for the five-year term on the Housing Authority. He opposes Myron D. Chace, incumbent.

In his capacity as veterans investigator, Troy feels he sees and knows the problems confronting the veterans, especially as he is in the home of the veteran in his work daily. "I am not interested in the prestige or the honor that so many of our political-minded citizens are striving for, but I am interested in the aid to the worthy veteran. You can't sit on a board and thumb through applications for the veteran and come to any sound conclusion in regards to who is the most needy applicant. That is why I have taken such an interest in this matter," he declared.

"To be frank I really think that the Veterans Investigator in each community should be on the housing authority board. I am in favor of more housing for the Veterans of Arlington. I have worked with nine different contractors in the greater Boston area before accepting my present position and know the building business from the workingman's point of view which is an asset should the Town of Arlington decide on another housing site for the needy veterans of Arlington. This I am definitely in favor of. Should this materialize, the Arlington veteran will be the first to be employed," he said.

Troy is a product of the local schools and Emerson College. He is a veteran Marine, and past commander of Lt. Stanley G. Benner post. He was born in Arlington and has been a resident for 36 years. He is a homeowner, married with three children.

—Miss Marie Connors is chairman of the Junior Prom at Emmanuel College.

This home is equipped to care for the chronic and aged with a capable staff of registered Nurses, twenty-four hours in attendance, under the direct supervision of Mrs. Enid M. MacDonald.

Speaker Says Town Is Expendable

Dr. Walter L. Cronin, head of Civilian Defense in Cambridge, was the speaker before the Rotary Club recently.

Dr. Cronin stated that "he did not think an atomic bomb would be wasted on Boston because jetted gasoline would be as effective and far less expensive to the enemy."

"Russia," he continued, "has between 750 and 1,000 snorkel type submarines. Some of these submarines are transports and large enough to launch a rocket attack which can reach 200 miles from the coastline with only a 5 per cent error."

"Arlington," he said, "is expendable—only areas which are necessary for the existence of all will be given any appreciable amount of money with perhaps some training for key men. Arlington must supply all the manpower to help itself and most if not all of the money."

"Cambridge," he continued, "must have 20,000 defense workers and he felt that the response from volunteers was disappointing."

Daniel McFadden, Arlington's Civil Defense Director, followed Dr. Cronin and thanked him for his assistance and advice which had been given to him. McFadden will speak before the Arlington Rotary Club again in February on this subject.

NEXT INDUCTION call for 54 Arlington, Belmont and Watertown men will be Friday, Feb. 9, at 6:45 a.m., from Library Hall.

Testimonial Dinner

Plans are underway to tender a testimonial dinner on Wednesday, Feb. 28, at the Hotel Gardner, Boston, for Joseph A. Purcell, retiring chairman of the Board of Selectmen.

A large group of civic-minded friends have planned this honor for the popular selectman and have elected Jacob Katz and Joseph P. Greeley as chairmen for the affair.

John Buckley has been named ticket chairman and treasurer.

A. H. S. DRAMATIC CLUB

lending no small part in executive assistance.

Thoroughly enjoyable also was the performance of the Arlington High School Orchestra, under the direction of L. Hassler Einzig, whose playing before the show and between the acts added so much to the whole performance. Leading up to the opening of each curtain the orchestra played "Meet Me In St. Louis, Louis", and it was a fitting close when the entire cast joined in and sang this number on the final curtain call.

One of the biggest thrills in a high school play is the moment at the very end when the pretty ushers carry the flowers to the lady principals in the cast, followed by the presentation of flowers and gifts to those "behind scenes" who really make the wheels turn. Each presentation, done by a different member of the cast, was given with graciousness and poise. One presentation was made by Miss Thelma Whitman, president of the Club. Mrs. Matthews also was charming in her acceptance of her flowers, and she and her co-workers were loudly applauded.

All in all, Saturday night's play was thoroughly delightful in every way, and anyone who missed it, missed a very good time, very good entertainment, and a chance to see what very good things are being done with and by our young people.

The cast included Paul Gerrior, Connie Foote, Lorraine Kelley, Carol Hornbeck, Patricia Cox, Patricia Abbott, Charles Wright, Marius Robinson, Maria Moscardini, Mary MacNeil, Ann Morrill, John Walkinshaw, Leo Sheehan, Angela DeLorenzo, Ralph Hatch, Ronald Gerbrando, Richard O'Brien and Jerebel Strong.
